Engage British Jap Invasion Units Reach Imphal Area

NEW DELHI, April 7.—Japan invasion forces driving westward from India's Manipal state have reached the Imphal area and are engaging the defenders of that British stronghold, a communiqué disclosed today.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, the southeast Asian headquarters reported that "small" enemy units were attacking British positions around Imphal, but asserted that all these initial thrusts had been repulsed.

The attacks apparently were made by Japanese fighting units moving down the Imphal-Kohima highway in the valley of the main enemy force.

The communiqué also disclosed that the Japanese had consolidated their 15-mile road block on the highway north of Imphal and pushed on across the road to the west in the direction of the Assam-Bengal railway some 50 miles away.

"SLIGHT" PROGRESS
Allied troops have made contact with the enemy forces on the highway, the communiqué said, adding that the Japanese thus far have made only "slight" progress toward the railway.

Cutting of the Assam-Bengal railroad, which also is menaced by another enemy column moving westward above Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal, would sever the main Allied supply line to the Imphal-Imphal highway.

Meanwhile an Allied announcement revealed that the veteran 10th Indian division had fought its way out of a Japanese trap on the Imphal-Imphal highway.

Nazis Fortifying
Ploesti Oil Field
ZURICH, April 7.—(CP)—The Germans are reported to have been at least 100 miles from Ploesti, the most powerful stronghold of enemy oil in the Balkans. The Bulgarians have refused orders of adherence to the consequent necessity of retaining all Bulgarian oil at home for the country's own defense in interests of the Axis.

The Germans are reported to have begun extensive defense works at Ploesti, and it is not doubtful that they will be able to hold off action for a considerable time if they are unable to hold them.

NAPLES, April 7.—A small force of American heavy bombers pounded an enemy airfield at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, yesterday. At least 16 of 120 German fighters that rose to intercept the raiders were shot down.

R.A.F. Spitfires simultaneously strafed the Nazi Luftwaffe air base 30 miles southeast of Zagreb, destroying an undisciplined number of Axis planes on the ground. Several Italian Caproni bombers, based up on the field with their bomb racks loaded, were hit and were being towed to the rear.

Allied medium and fighter bombers ranged over central Italy and the battle areas throughout the day, bombing and machine gunning railroad lines and other vital targets.

A German airport chemical plant at Popoli, airfield at Perugia and a big hydro-electric plant at Terni also were hammered by the Allied raiders.

LONDON, April 7.—Swedish bombers attacked Hamburg and targets in the industrial Ruhr and Rhineland last night and Axis reports said scattered Allied "nuisance raiders" struck at Germany by daylight today.

There was no immediate Allied confirmation of the reported daylight raid at German targets. The enemy broadcasts indicated that Anglo-American reconnaissance planes might be ranging over the Reich to photograph bomb damage or scout out new targets for the big Allied bombers.

One R.A.F. plane was lost in last night's operations, when a four-engine Mosquito was shot down by anti-aircraft fire. The Mosquito was a high-speed, low-altitude aircraft used for reconnaissance and bombing.

Convention Ends Socialism Fought Overseas But Is Welcomed by Some In Canada Says Manning

TORONTO, April 7.—(CP)—Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta said at a Social Credit mass meeting last night that Canadians were sent overseas to fight National Socialism while a similar system was being welcomed by some in Canada.

"We have sent the boys overseas to fight national socialism while there are people who welcome the thing in at the back door at home under another name," said Mr. Manning.

"That's the sell out brought of freedom for any mass of people."

Mr. Manning said he opposed monopolies and combines, but the problem was not solved by substituting a state monopoly for them.

"A political combine is worst of all," he continued.

Canada was approaching what might be its last opportunity to bring about a democratic system, he said.

Mr. Manning said he was not a socialist, but he was a democrat.

He said that the Social Credit system was a "poverty-free" system.

Realistic education was needed for Canadian children to show them debt and attendant evils were not necessary.

Find Fatal Shots Fired by Barilla

VANCOUVER, April 7.—(CP)—A coroner's jury returned a verdict last night stating Wellington Bruce Wallace, 37, died from gunshot wounds "said to have been fired from a gun in the hands of one Albert Barilla."

Barilla has been charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Wallace during a gun and knife battle in the downtown Graycourt Hotel early Sunday morning.

Gordon Hawley, held in custody as a material witness in connection with the shooting, told the coroner's jury yesterday that he saw Wallace during the incident.

Hawley said the incident occurred about 10:30 p.m. Sunday night when he saw Wallace in the hotel.

Dr. A. W. Hunter testified that only one bullet was fired into Wallace's stomach. The lead slug split into two pieces on striking the victim's belt buckle and pieces of buckle and a fragment of cloth were carried into the wound.

Trans-Canada's First Employee

He came to TCA from Canadian Airways, in which he was assistant general manager, Pacific line based at Vancouver and taking in territory as far as the Yukon. Today he is superintendent of passenger service for Trans-Canada, at operating headquarters, Winnipeg. TCA has just awarded service pins to its employees with five years' service and more. In issuing them to 238 employees on the system, H. J. eries for the new economic order," said Mr. Low.

Louis Evon of Montreal said the Social Credit convention had achieved unity of purpose on objectives in two days and the New Democracy House leader, Blackmore said Social Crediters were banded together in a struggle for the freedom of mankind.

J. E. Greig of Quebec, National Association vice-president, said social security would prevent wars.

Anthony Hiyas, New Democracy member of parliament for Vegreville, Alta., said Social Credit believed in eliminating the causes of class distinctions and was not "internationalist in any sense of the word."

Dr. Joshua Haldean, of Regina, was chairman.

Earlier the convention, which closed last night, approved a statement of principles including a clause that "The local sovereignty of the people of Canada shall be fully recognized in their respective national, provincial and municipal spheres."

EDUCATION URGED

Spokesman for the Quebec delegation of 42 said that they did not intend the time and place of political action on a Dominion-wide basis and felt more education was needed. They explained, however, that they favored political action when voters in a constituency felt they were ready for it.

The convention sent back to the resolutions committee for redrafting a resolution dealing with war and stating that conditions leading to war were fostered by monopolies, which forced nations to blast their way into markets harnessed democracies and financed dictators.

Only through the defeat of the Axis powers could the danger of war be obtained, said the draft resolution.

Donald Turpin, of Hull, Que., said there was no assurance of political democracy even when the Axis powers were defeated. The resolution probably would lead to much discussion and might well be held over.

DON'T SEE 'EYE TO EYE'

"Quebec does not see eye to eye with the rest of Canada on some matters and the Quebec delegation might feel a resolution of this nature would harm Social Credit," he continued.

"I do not think for a moment that English-speaking delegation would like to do anything to handicap us in Quebec."

Cyril Pearson of Vancouver, chairman of the resolutions committee, said that the committee was unable to complete redrafting of the resolution before the convention adjourned in the evening. He said it was evident there was general support for an all-out war effort among social crediters.

A resolution approved said the press and radio were the most powerful media of disseminating knowledge and should make their services available for dissemination of social credit principles. Agencies which had helped this work in the past were thanked.

ACT AS SERVANTS

The statement of policy said social crediters are opposed to any form of political party machine, believing every elected representative must act as the servant of his constituents. Every association membership would require the individual freedom of every other member on all matters not relating to or connected with the principles of social credit, thus recognizing the principles of individual political freedom in speech and action.

Declaring the desirability of discussion between English-speaking and French-speaking social crediters.

"I believe it has been the policy of finance to divide the Canadian people on racial issues to better dominate us," said the speaker.

Norman Jacques, New Democracy member of parliament for Vegreville, Alta., praised the work of John H. Blackmore, member for Leithbridge, as leader of 10 Social Crediters in the commons, who at present have the party name of New Democracy.

TO DISCUSS NAME

In an interview, Mr. Blackmore said a question on whether the New Democracy members would change the name of their party in parliament to Social Crediters or "premature" and would have to be discussed.

Paul Prince of Winnipeg, who walked out of the convention yesterday morning declaring that it proposed to plan for the great land on the national level, later made a statement to reporters.

Mr. Prince said the convention "is a show being run like a Ringling Circus, and do not recognize a Social Credit value in it nor the conception of democracy of Social Credit."

He said he was the acting president of the Social Credit Organization formed in Winnipeg in 1941.

After the death of Premier William Aberhart of Alberta, the president, last year, Mr. Prince said he had asked for a meeting of the organization after being informed by Mr. Low that he would be acting president. The meeting had never taken place.

"This present Social Credit convention has been called to all appearances to avoid rendering an opinion on the responsibility of the Democratic Monetary Reform Organization," he said.

Social Credit had been a part of the Monetary Reform Organization.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

British and American soldiers on the beachhead fighting for the first time in flat land found movements by day of suicide and by night equally dangerous, are becoming increasingly realistic. They are tired of lying all day in slit trenches or crouching in foxholes exchanging a few shots with the enemy or engaging him in inconclusive "cat and mouse" play.

Many of the Allied soldiers express a desire to attack, take the losses at one time and "get some where."

8TH ARMY FRONT

Clinton B. Conger, 8th Army front line observer, said the German offensive last November expired two miles above Ortona with a counter-attack by German paratroopers, the rain has kept the 8th Army almost static in the Adriatic coastal positions.

The only offensive action was the New Zealanders' gallant but unsuccessful charge against Ortona in December. The right flank of the 8th faces almost insurmountable obstacles in a series of river crossings between its present line and Pescara. To the southwest the Germans are anchored to the snow-covered Maltini mountains, ranging from 5,000 to 7,000 feet high. Frequent rains are melting the snows but mud and mire still rule the battlefield.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, April 7.—This is a frank description of the Allied campaign in Italy by correspondents who have been in the field with the troops.

It is not a cheery, optimistic report because that isn't the kind of a war British, American, Canadian, African, Indian, French and Italian troops have been waging against the Germans in this theatre.

The war in Italy is a matter of slugging ahead in some places a few hundred yards in a week and in others just digging in and trying to hold firm at a stiff cost of lives and limbs. It is a war of mud and booby traps, of hopes and disappointments. It is war at its most undramatic and unpleasant.

The men at the front want the people back home to know that I have been at the main 8th Army front and more recently at the Anzio beachhead and at both places I was impressed by the quality of Allied soldiers that the people at home know that their task in Italy is a tough "darned" one to write how rough the going is. Pope's Position Is Challenged

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, April 7.—(AP)—The Metropolitan Sergei of Moscow, the Patriarch of all Russia, challenged the position of the Pope today as Vicar of Christ.

In an article entitled "Is There a War of Christ on Earth?" the Patriarch reaffirmed the traditional enmity of the Orthodox Church, opposed squarely the Pope as Vicar of Christ, the Pope as Vicar of Christ.

(Sergei, now 76, was elected Patriarch of Moscow and all Russia last September. A week later the Russian church gave him blessing to Soviet rule.)

OTTAWA, April 7.—(CP)—Shortening of civil service hours from 7½ to 6½ hours a day is likely to receive early consideration, it was learned yesterday. When it's hand-to-hand fighting . . . in close, with machine guns spitting flaming fury and grinning death a few yards away . . . that's when the hand grenade does its useful work, flattening the enemy in a flash of high explosive. In the pinches, Canadian fighting men depend on "pineapples" . . . those precision-built grenades no bigger than a lemon. Our gallant Canadians are today throwing them far and fast! Blasting open the highway to world Freedom!

To make these useful tools of war, vast quantities of alcohol are used. Alcohol helps to give the "pineapple" its smashing "sunday punch," and is one of the essentials in making every type of war explosive. A gallon of alcohol helps make 50 hand grenades.

All of our plants are producing it in vast quantities.

Doing Good Work

During March $3,111.25 worth of war savings stamps were sold at the Stamp Bar at the corner of 10th Avenue and 101st Street. Sales at the booth at the post office and sales by various organizations brought the total for the month up to $5,284.75.

The stamps which are being sold today by day are in due course exchanged for savings certificates, and so translated into securities which will be redeemed in cash, with accumulated interest, when the maturity dates arrive. Those who purchase them are storing up buying power for the future use, through the occasional investment of spare change. They are also, as the total for the month shows, turning in collectively a good deal of money to help finance the war.

The sales people are thus doing a good stroke of business for the war chest, and are encouraging the saving habit, which they deserve the encouragement of generous and steady patronage.

Deserting the Outposts

Allied lines in the Pacific are now making multiple raids, and reporting them in batches instead of singly. The Japanese have been forced to desert the names of Wekew, the Dutch East Indies, Timor, New Ireland, New Britain, Wake, Ponape, and four Jap bases in the Marshall Islands.

This summary covers operations over an extent of some 3,000 miles and 2,000 miles across. An area as large as from Salmon to Leningrad, and from London to Naples. A significant sentence in the report that virtually no air opposition was encountered and enemy anti-aircraft fire was ineffective.

Generalizations are dangerous, but this and other recent reports at least suggest that Tojo is holding his air force, as well as his battle fleet, in reserve. The push down which must come on the near approach to Japan itself. No other apparent reason would cause him to leave his island outposts to be hammered without opposition by the bombers of MacArthur and Nimitz.

Stranger Stories

According to word from Ottawa, some date is being found in fixing a suitable date for the projected Dominion War Conference which has been under discussion for some months.

The troubles at the meeting of the arrangement for the meeting offer a quaint commentary on the relationship that exists between the provincial and federal governments of Canada. They give rise to the suspicion that, in some respects, these governments are actually stranger stories.

When, for instance, it is desirable to promote co-operation between Canada and the United States or Canada and any other friendly country, the machinery for that co-operation is ready to be put into motion. An elaborate machinery exists to transmit without delay even the finest shades of opinion from one government to another.

But whenever the provinces wish to deal with federal authorities, a special pilgrimage to Ottawa usually occurs which sometimes involves half a provincial cabinet.

The curious fact is that in many respects Ottawa is closer to so-called foreign governments than the governments of the Canadian provinces.

Mr. Willkie Quits

Mr. Wendell Willkie has withdrawn from the Presidential contest, for the stated reason "It is obvious now that I cannot be nominated." With this change in the situation and what it may lead to Canada has nothing to do, and good taste bars them from comment other than that which may be appropriate in the ears of neighbors with a wholesome desire to mind their own business.

Mr. Willkie it can be said that he has gained the esteem and respect of Canada, and that from his speeches they have gathered some notion as to the line of policy he would follow, if elected, toward the United States and the international field generally. Another man may have different views on these subjects. In any case it cannot be assumed that his views will be the same unless and until they are expounded.

That Canadians will watch the course of events with interest goes without saying. Our future relations with the United States will be second in importance only to our relations with Britain; and the attitude of the next Washington administration toward world affairs may make all the difference between a settled order and another period of frustration.

Despite the Mud

Moscow claims that the Odessa trap has been practically closed with the capture of 100,000 Nazi and Romanian occupation troops inside. As nothing has been said to the contrary, it is to be supposed the six divisions or more of German and Italian troops last fall in the Crimea are still there, dead or alive. In the Tarnopol area the Russians some days ago reported they were driving together the bulk of another pocket containing 200,000 Hitlerites.

These are big figures. They indicate the enormous manpower the Red army must have turned loose in the southern sector to make it possible to bypass, surround and hold enemy forces of such magnitude for leisurely liquidation. Weeks ago Berlin began to explain that its generals on the eastern front were pursuing a "detachment" strategy. This was a polite term meaning that they were carrying out a fast retreat. With good reason, they would not keep up. They do not seem to have made much of a success of the manoeuvre.

The Russians on their part claim that an unusually early thaw prevented their spearhead columns really getting into their stride. If that is correct it is much to be regretted. For with good weather for those pursuer columns it seems fairly likely that Hitler would now have more troops couped up in corrals in the Ukraine than he has in Russia.

Czechoslovakia came back into the news with its announcement that Russian troops are less than 60 miles from the border of that country. The Czechs may make some news on their own account, also. They have been told by the Government in London that the time is ripe to translate individual acts of sabotage into a concerted resistance to the Nazis. Every mile the Russians advance toward their border will strengthen their courage to revolt.

From Bougainville comes word that the Japs lost seven thousand men trying to land on the island of Bougainville. Bougainville is a little island to the South Pacific, one of the Solomon group. The area of the whole group is only 17,000 square miles, that of Bougainville perhaps a quarter of this total. If the Japs there lost a third of their number, which is a high guess, they must have packed more than 20,000 men to that island. This gives some hint of the MacArthur and his island-hopping strategy. It also shows that whatever the Japs may lack they do not lack men. Tojo, it may be added, doesn't seem to care how many of them he loses.

Are the Soviet War Aims limited or Unlimited?

Peace Objectives May Be Much More Sweeping in Extent

By DOROTHY THOMPSON
On Sunday evening the Soviet Communist for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Molotov, held a press conference. In all his previous statements he has announced that the Red Army has crossed the Prut River and saved the Rumanian people from the clutches of the German army. The Soviet Union sought neither territory in Rumania nor the alteration of the existing social structure. This is an announcement of first-rate significance, and it is a study of the peace aims of the Soviet Union which has been made.

The question was: Are Soviet aims limited or unlimited? Dorothy Thompson suggests that the Soviet war aims are the most limited. They are to drive out the German army from the Rumanian borders of 1940.

What Soviet peace aims may be another matter. It is a mistake to assume that the Soviet war aims are the most limited. They are to drive out the German army from the Rumanian borders of 1940.

Critical Points in Air Policy

Controversy Is Expected To Arise on Several Issues

By GRANT DEXTER

OTTAWA—When the new air policy is introduced in parliament in the form of legislation, controversy is expected to arise on several issues.

The reason given by Mr. Howe for the rejection of the C.P.R. from the federal air policy is that the C.P.R. ought not to be allowed to own air lines. This principle, as his statement shows, derives from the United States. He cited the U.S. Aero-Transport Act of 1938 as precedent.

In adopting this principle, Mr. Howe reversed the position he took in parliament in 1937 when he proposed the Trans-Canada Act, which was turned over to the National Airway Board to develop a major air line service. In 1937, Mr. Howe was the right and proper agency to launch an air service.

All the basic circumstances point to the conclusion that Mr. Howe dragged this railway argument by the heels to support a policy which had been adopted for quite different reasons. All the arguments used by Mr. Howe in 1937 hold true today and have the added sanction of seven years' successful demonstration.

Under the new policy the Trans-Canada will have to be separated from the National Airways. The latter will be a public corporation, while the former will be a private enterprise. The National Airway Board will be the body to regulate the industry.

The C.P.A. is being put out of the air business because it has challenged Trans-Canada and the government. That the C.P.A. has been owned by a railway company is an accident. If C.P.A. under any ownership had acted as it acted the government would have had no objection. In the reverse, if C.P.A. had been content to operate in the field assigned to private enterprise it would not have been unduly criticised. Mr. Howe's new principle would not have been heard of.

Therefore, it is regarded as a weakness in the policy that in order to get rid of it, the government must separate the railway from the air.

SIDE GLANCES

The final criticism arises from the proposal to set up an air transport board to regulate and control air transportation. The present transport board will be confined to surface transportation.

It is pointed out that what is required is a body to regulate and coordinate transportation generally.

Among war for limited objectives we may count the wars for the defence of the British Empire, the American Civil War, the American Revolution, the American War of Independence, the American War of # Hitler Afraid to Risk Revolt Defeatism Among Crews Believed Reason For Curtailed Activity of Nazi U-Boats

By FRANK LOWE

LONDON, April 7.—(CP)—Naval observers have become more submarine-conscious than at any time since 1942, not because of increased activity but just the opposite. Speculation centres on why Hitler's most effective weapon for winning a stalemate is not being used to the utmost.

Some commentators thought the slackened offensive might not have resulted so much from strengthened Allied anti-submarine patrols as by fear that German U-boat men, if worked too hard, may revolt as did sub crews in the First Great War.

(Speaking naval base at United States naval base in Bermuda, U.S. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said a large-scale renewal of U-boat attacks on Allied shipping is "possible soon." He said Germany was concentrating on building submarines "to the virtual exclusion of all other kinds of vessels.")

TIME TO STRIKE

Naval observers here stressed now would be the logical time for U-boats to strike. With a known 600 submarines available and North Atlantic sea lanes thick with second-front traffic, there would be no better opportunity to disrupt Allied plans.

But no concerted attack is being made. Ships by the hundreds are running the North Atlantic to Britain gunnery in near peace-time serenity.

The layman's answer for this lack of enemy activity might be that the U-boats are being saved to stage off the second front assault; that they will be massed in invasion

Plan Post-War Aerial Service Over N. Atlantic

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Plans for post-war air transport service over the North Atlantic were disclosed yesterday in a memorandum that business interests in Canada, United States and Great Britain would join a New foundland group interested in such a project.

The announcement was made by V. S. Bennett of St. John's, Nfld., who is a local director of Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company, a hotelier enterprise, and has interests in shipping, timber and mining.

NAME INTERESTS

It said United States representation would be headed by Smith, Barney and Company, New York investment bankers, Canadian by Greenfield and Company, Inc. of Montreal, and that British interests would be announced later.

Part of the proposal is to change the name of Air Transport Limited, Newfoundland, to North Atlantic Airways. Subject to approval of the governments concerned, the company would operate between Great Britain and the North Atlantic and European continents.

Bennett said the company is making application for landing and navigation rights, and for reciprocal rights in those countries which might be accorded facilities in Newfoundland and Labrador.

Air Offensive Main Activity On Italy Front

By DANIEL DE LUCE

NAPLES, April 7.—(AP)—Out of the bitter stalemate on the blood-soaked Italian front Allied air power is emerging with virtually complete responsibility for the "spring offensive" against the Nazis in southeastern Europe.

In sharp contrast to the war Allied armies have been checked south of Rome after a succession of costly attacks, hundreds of heavy bombers have ranged from southern Italy in the last seven days to strike four of the most vital and most heavily defended targets east of Germany's own border—Sofia, Budapest, Bucharest and Ploesti.

Reich May Risk Economic Collapse

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Mobilized economic strength of the United Nations now is "overwhelmingly greater" than Germany, the foreign economic administration said yesterday, and the Nazis can fight on effectively only at the expense of exhausting the Reich to a point unparalleled in centuries.

The sheer weight of the Allied striking power in munitions and the materials to make them is so great that when fully brought to bear in the land, sea and air operations to come—victory is certain, said a statement by Leo F. Crowley, F.E.A. administrator.

Aircraft production by Britain, the United States and Russia already is four times the German output, Crowley said, and the supply of alloys for steel manufacture in the United States alone is many times as great.

He warned, however, that the

Hopes to Develop Vaccine For Polio

SAN MARINO, Calif., April 7.—(AP)—Dr. Carl Edward Rosenow, professor of experimental bacteriology at the Mayo foundation in Minnesota, says he is working on the development of a vaccine against infantile paralysis.

The veteran scientist said in an interview here that he believes it will be possible to use the vaccine widely as a preventive injection for children and adults, just as such inoculations have been used in smallpox and other diseases.

Dr. Rosenow for years has contended infantile paralysis is due to streptococcus. Almost all other experts attribute the disease to a virus, a small organism which has not been isolated.

The Mayo physician claims he has identified this small organism as a form through which streptococci pass at one stage in life.

If he is right, streptococci might furnish the material for a success-

Salvador Revolt "Still Flickering"

MEXICO CITY, April 7.—(AP)—Travelers arriving from El Salvador today said Monday's attempted revolt had been stamped out except in Santa Ana province near the Guatemala border, where it was "still flickering."

One of the travelers said a colonel who had been passed over when his companions were raised to general led the revolt with the aid of a doctor and some other civilians. There was no public participation in the fighting, he added.

PANAMA CITY, Panama, April 7.—(CP)—Travelers arriving here yesterday from Managua reported continued fighting in Salvador, though the government insists the situation is under control.

Joe DiMaggio played 425 consecutive baseball games before being caught stealing a base.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

CANADIENS appear to be waiting around just long enough for "Red" Dutton to wrap up the old Stanley Cup and judging by the 3-1 pasting handed the Hawks right in Chicago last night, it seems doubtful if even the fabled Mr. O'Leary with her lantern and cow could have anything hotter than the Habitués are at the moment.

The Montreal club does look like a cinch, but it is odd nevertheless that the winner of the National League has been successful in capturing the Stanley Cup only five times during the last 12 years.

Reference to the lists published today show that on two occasions (31 and 32) the Black Hawks grabbed the cup away from the league title holder in the post-season series. Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers also turned the trick twice and Canadiens did it in 1935.

During the period from 1918 to 1921, however, the league champions came through every year excepting 1920, when the Victoria Cougars, winners of the Western Canada League best out of the N.H.L. Canadiens.

Canadians this year have a chance to equal the record of the Ottawa Senators who won the Stanley Cup six times in the 1920's. Ottawa Silver Seven held it three years in succession, thus giving Ottawa teams a total of nine. Montreal clubs have 14 successive years of credit.

ALPHONSE USES HIS "HAXE"
THE following "special" which appeared in a recent issue of the Ottawa Journal was reprinted in the Ottawa Star, dated June 1, 1935, after the Ottawa Senators had been handed along.

"It may not be the season when bear is usually hunted, but Alphonse Vallancourt didn't have time to think of that before killing an angry bear today with his axe. I decide it was de la haxe to do so carefully explained.

Three young men, green in the bush, had the surprise of a serene sunny springlike afternoon, an insistent winter-colded bear poked head and shoulders from his winter quarters and let loose with a single tingling growl. The two men standing closest, having no desire to grapple with bear, picked their heels in a hurry, quickly increasing the distance between themselves and the early rising animal.

The third, Alphonse Vallancourt, our modern hunter, having been standing on the opposite side of the stump from beneath which the bear had emerged, watched with happy amusement the companion's flight, not realizing what had precipitated them in such haste over logs and brush. "It was no laughing matter, however," he said, "when he suddenly discovered the subject of their flight was too close to the seat of his pants for comfort, and that said animal, by all appearances, seemed to have every intention of venting his anger by teaching him to shoot."

"In the French-Canadian words," he said, "there was no time to run, so I decide to keel him with my axe."

New York Racing Opens Saturday At Jamaica Track

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—New York's racing season, which in 1944 pulled in $284,000,000 from pari-mutuels—only $19,000,000 found its way into the state treasury—gets under way Saturday with a 25-day meeting at Jamaica.

Although the year's calendar calls for only 181 days of racing, as compared with 1943, a year ago, indications are that there will be a big boost in betting.

Transportation problems have been eased, in that trains will be permitted to go directly to the tracks, although automobile parking lots will again be closed. Last year the 3,523,524 customers had to walk as far as a mile and a half each way from regular transportation lines.

But despite that handicap, they picked the waning total about 60 per cent over the $175,186,754 total of 1942.

The Jamaica meeting, which runs through May 6, lists eight stakes races. The first day's feature, a $2,500 added event for three-year-olds and up, is a six-furlong dash inaugurated in 1906. Last year it attracted such a large field that it was run in two sections, each with $2,500 added, and Apache and Will Regards were the winners.

Another Jamaica feature is the $24,000 added event for three-year-olds scheduled April 22, which last year provided Count Fleet with the spring board from which he hoped to win the Kentucky Derby.

Trail Smokies Go Two Up In Western Junior Finals

WINNIPEG, April 7.—(CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters took a strange hold on the western Canada junior hockey championship Thursday night by winning their second straight game of the best-of-five finals against Port Arthur Flyers 4-3. Third game will be here Saturday night.

Playing before more than 3,500 fans, Trail clinched the game midway in the first period when Eddie Miller, the winger who scored the victory center in a 2-2 overtime tussle Tuesday night, again picking up a loose puck from a scramble and flipping it into an open net.

Defenceman Lorne Depaolis, winger Jake McLeod and defenceman Ivo Tofoletto needed the other Trail centers, Steve Black and Louis Nistico, and Jack Marshall scored for Port Arthur.

As in the first encounter, the Thunder Bay champions took the game on Trail early in the first period, but the Port Arthur team soon got their smooth short-passing attack going, and the game became a hot potato among their speedy opponents.

The first period ended 1-1, Smoke moved ahead 3-2 in the close checking middle session, and after Flyers tied the count again, they netted from a scramble with less than 10 minutes to go.

Goalkeeper Ben Bentley, nephew of Doug Bentley, Chicago Black Hawks National League ace, was repeatedly blocking Flyers' scoring chances.

Trail's second goal, a 3-2 lead, was scored by Depaolis, who hit a 2-0 goal, while Miller, who had scored the first goal, hit a 3-1 goal.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION
According to some food experts, the coming of spring weather tends to decrease the appetite for food. How is your appetite affected by the warm weather?

IRENE SERVIDA, waitress: Well, I am almost ashamed to admit it, but my appetite seems to have increased. As a matter of fact, I seem to want to be eating all the time, although I don't eat heavy food I crave, but snacks.

PFC. LOU KLEIN: The warm weather decreases my craving for food. I find that all I want to eat is cool light food and I've even turned traitor to snacks. Besides, my wallet is kind of flat anyway.

SYLVIA COLE, typist: I've noticed that most people seem to feel that they don't want to eat in warm weather, but my appetite stays on a fairly even keel all year round. That means I'm always hungry, but I wish eating would increase my weight because I'd like to gain about 10 pounds.

Jack Harrison, 14 years old, of 10043 112 street, and Kenneth Hall, 14, 10835 97 street, who have been missing since Monday, have been found safe at Red Deer, according to city police.

Engineer Rescues Child From River

WINNIPEG, April 7.—(CP)—Walter Fetterly of Winnipeg, Canadian Pacific Railway engineer, rescued six-year-old Margaret Moffat of Minnedosa, Man., after she fell through the ice of the Little Saskatchewan river near Minnedosa eight days ago, it was learned here yesterday.

Fetterly was driving his train when he noticed the child struggling in the water. He stopped the train, worked his way out on the soft ice and dragged the girl to safety.

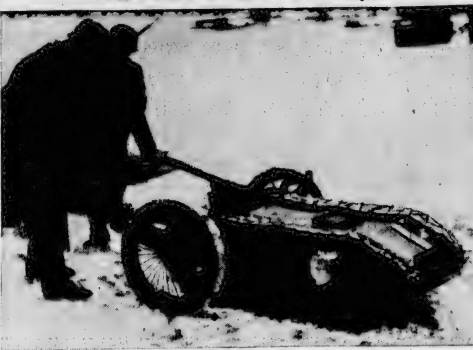

"When we reached safe ice I turned her over and smacked her a couple of times to knock the water out."

"She looked up at me and said, 'Don't whip me, I didn't mean to fall in.'"

Labor Union Funds Financing Escapes

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—An underground "railroad" financed in part by C.I.O. and A.F.L. war relief funds, has been in operation between Japanese-occupied and Free China since last September, says Irving Abramson, C.I.O. War Relief Committee chairman. He said the secret line has aided 400 skilled technicians to escape the Japanese.

Opinions Differ on Changes in Eighth Army Command

By ALAN RANDAL.
LONDON, April 7.—(CP)—Disclosure: in the war office book "The Eighth Army," of reasons why that famous fighting force had four generals in 16 months, received a mixed reception in the London press.

"The Mirror welcomed it said the government acted wisely in making known the reasons for the changes in command."

"This frank statement," said the paper, "will increase the confidence of the army in its leaders."

The change in official outlook is heartening. In years gone by the idea of sacking a general would have caused a shudder in the best war office circles. Somebody has won a great victory."

THOUGHT BAD FORM

But the writer of the column "Star Man's Diary" felt it was bad form to put the matter into print when the general concerned still had commands and, as members of the army, cannot make their own reply.

"They Richards, military expert of the Daily Express, recognized this view also and wrote what he thought the generals would say, could they reply themselves."

In brief, this is what he wrote as his reply for General Sir Alan Cunningham on whom the official verdict was that he lost faith when he found himself left with senior inferior to the enemy's and wanted to call off the battle. "I could not take outside considerations such as political reasons into account. On purely military grounds I was not justified in risking the total loss of my army."

Gen. Neil Ritchie, on whom the official verdict was that he planned to wipe out Rommel's bulge into the Allied line bore a sinister analogy to the Wehrmacht plan in the battle of France. (It materialized, unlike Wehrmacht's, but failed.) "I had had luck. My attack from the north ran onto a minefield that had never been charted. . . . My trouble was I may have had equality but not sufficient superiority in men and weapons without which battles cannot be won."

VIEW ON AUCHINCLOSS

Of Gen. Sir Claude Auchincloss, who was supreme commander of both deposed fighting leaders, the official record says, "Admirable though he had been in averting complete disaster, he was not the best man for the command."

Ritchie replied for him: "Concern was to keep the Eighth Army in being as a fighting force. . . . necessary, I was prepared to retreat out of Egypt altogether so long as the army could live to fight on. In that I was successful and it was not necessary for me to go beyond the defences I had prepared previously at Alamein."

Speaking for himself, Richards wrote: "Cunningham did not finish his battle and it must have meant great moral courage to stand by his conviction. Ritchie won a line spoiling victory, Auchincloss beat Rommel at the last ditch. Those things will also be remembered."

Women in Finland For Labor Service

N.B. Legislature Concludes Session

Urges Albanians Unite Against Nazi Enemy

It is a statement on the fifth anniversary of the Italian invasion of the small Adriatic country, the state department, reaffirmed the United States' refusal to recognize "the fascist annexation of Albania."

"The Others Were Marvellous," Says V.C. Winner

V.C. winner in Italy, Major Paul Triquet of Cabano, Que., helps army nurse Lieut. Marie J. Swan of Lloydminster, Sask., roll bandages while he recuperates from wounds received in the battle for Casa Verd, the turning point in the battle for Ortona. Said the major when asked about his exploits: "The others were marvellous."

Loses a Leg But Flies Again

Although he lost a leg when his Spitfire crashed near Dover in 1942, Warrant Officer W. G. "Bill" Scrimgeour of Milverton, Ontario, is again flying as a fully qualified pilot with the Royal Canadian Air Force. Determined to make the best of his misfortune, Bill first learned to ride, bike and ice skate with his temporary peg leg, meanwhile teaching the theory of flight at No. 1 I.T.S., Toronto. When his artificial limb was fitted he went to Souris, Manitoba, as a control tower officer and was there able to get in some dual flying. Recently he qualified to fly any type of aircraft, and soon hopes to be over the English Channel in a Spitfire again.

War Causes Big Increase in Air Traffic

War conditions have brought about a tremendous increase in air traffic carried by Trans-Canada Air Lines. The above photograph is reduced from the annual report of TCA, which contains figures strikingly illustrating this. In 1943 the number of passengers carried by Canada's national air line increased by 34%, air express volume by 126% and air mail volume by 61%, as compared with the preceding year. TCA carried 200,000,000 air mail letters in 1943, apart from the trans-Atlantic mail service which it operates for the Canadian Government to expedite the delivery of mail to and from the armed forces in the European theatre of war. Operating revenues were $9,379,501, an increase of $2,042,153 over 1942. TCA, (exclusive of the trans-Atlantic operation), in 1943 provided service—air mail, passenger and express—over routes totalling 4,903 miles between the Atlantic and the Pacific. The montage depicts loading of express in a big TCA plane; one of the company's transcontinental liners in flight; maintenance of military aircraft in the company's shops; the loading of mail for Canada's armed forces overseas; and, below, one of the big four-motored Lancaster transport planes which carries this mail across the Atlantic.

Sonja Meets "Funny" Bear at Little Norway

Miss Sonja Henie, like all visitors to Little Norway, soon became acquainted with "Funny", the massive camp mascot. "Funny" isn't nearly as tough as he looks and he is a confirmed teetotaler, drinking only bottled pop. Here he accepts a bottle from Miss Henie, who is visiting Little Norway in Muskoka.

Rift Refuters

"Malicious gossip" is what screen star Carol Landis and her husband, Capt. Thomas C. Wallace, U.S.A.F., said of rumors of a marital rift. They're pictured above in their Hollywood home where they were reunited when Captain Wallace arrived from the east to report to a west coast post.

Twins Have Identical Careers in the R.C.A.F.

Enlisting together, graduating together and flying together in the same squadron in Sicily and Italy is the unusual career of the above Toronto twins, shown with their mother, Mrs. Ida Sherlock, as they arrived home from overseas on leave together. They are Flying Officers Alan, left, and Eric Sherlock.

Meet the Main "Marauder"

Canuck Fighter Pilots Visit Coal Mine

Three Canadian Mustang fighter pilots whose usual job is to sweep the sky of enemy planes a mile above ground, were among recent visitors to the workings of a Welsh coal mine, half a mile underground. Showing evidence of their visit to the grimy facings, left to right, are: FO. A. Lightbody of New Westminster, B.C.; FO. J. D. McIlveen of Hanna, Alberta, and FO.

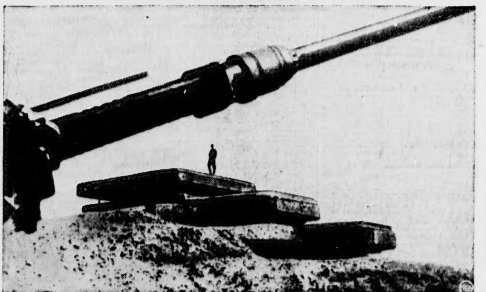

F. C. (without the "E") Goring of Sarnia, Ontario. First visit to British industries by R.C.A.F. personnel in England, tour was under the auspices of the British Council of Liverpool, a goodwill organization. The Canadian party including former hard rock miners from Ontario, inspected the surface and underground workings, compared notes with the Welsh pit workers, and later visited their recreation rooms.

Divers Work in Icy Water

Cutting through four feet of ice, a team of 10 Royal Canadian Navy divers worked in water with a temperature of 27 degrees to repair an important piece of gear on a corvette. In charge of the operation was Warrant Boatman Laurence "Lan" Channy, R.C.N., of Vernon, B.C., and Victoria. The divers were commended for their work by Commander C. H. Taylor, Flag Officer Newfoundland Force. Emerging from the icy water, a shivering diver ascends the ladder of the diving boat. First thing he asks for is usually a cigarette and steaming hot coffee.

Formidable French Coast Defence

The sleek barrel of an enemy long-range gun juts out over what the Nazis claim to be one of their "impenetrable" Channel coast concrete fortifications. While the Germans boast that our forces will never pass this coastal defence line, Allied bombers are blasting away at Hitler's invasion defences.
